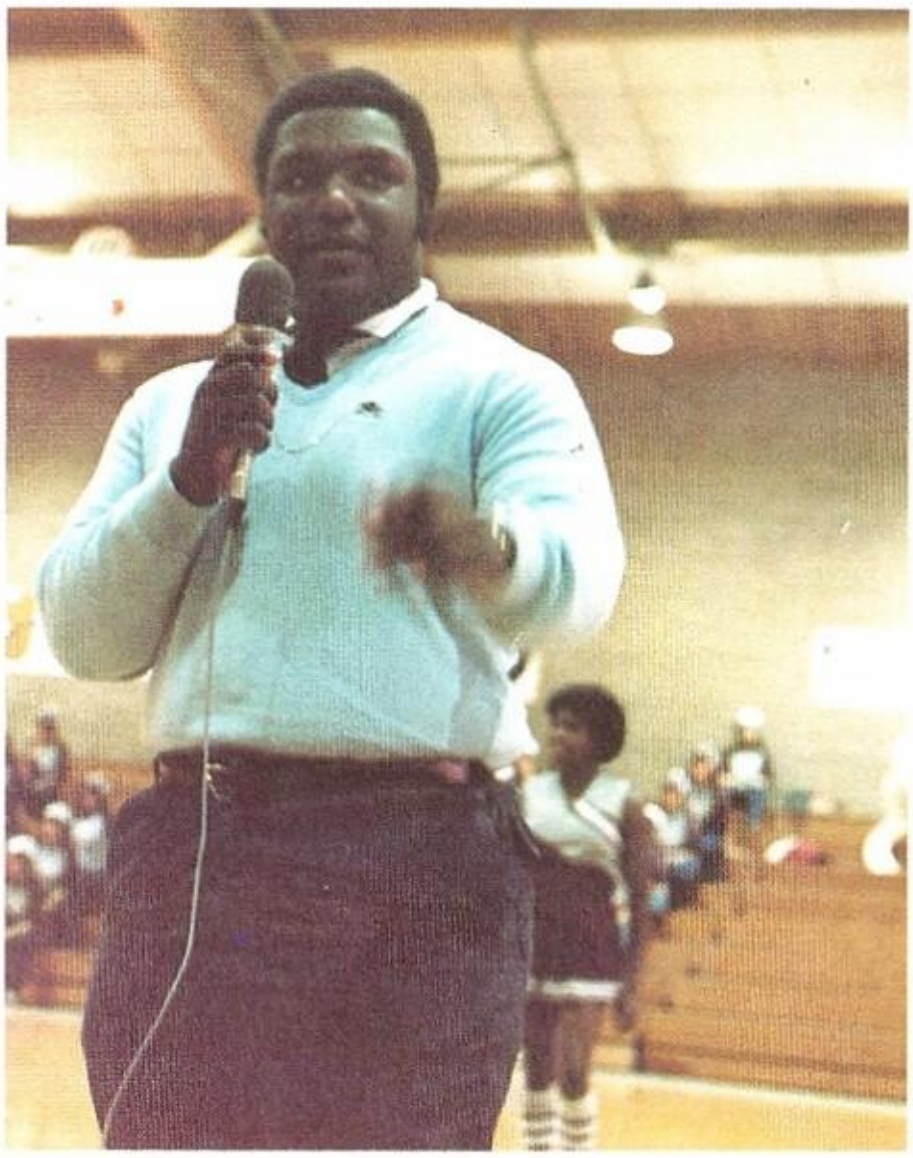
This year's the year
We'll make history
As sure as
The sun will rise



Charles Bell stirs up spirit at a pep rally.

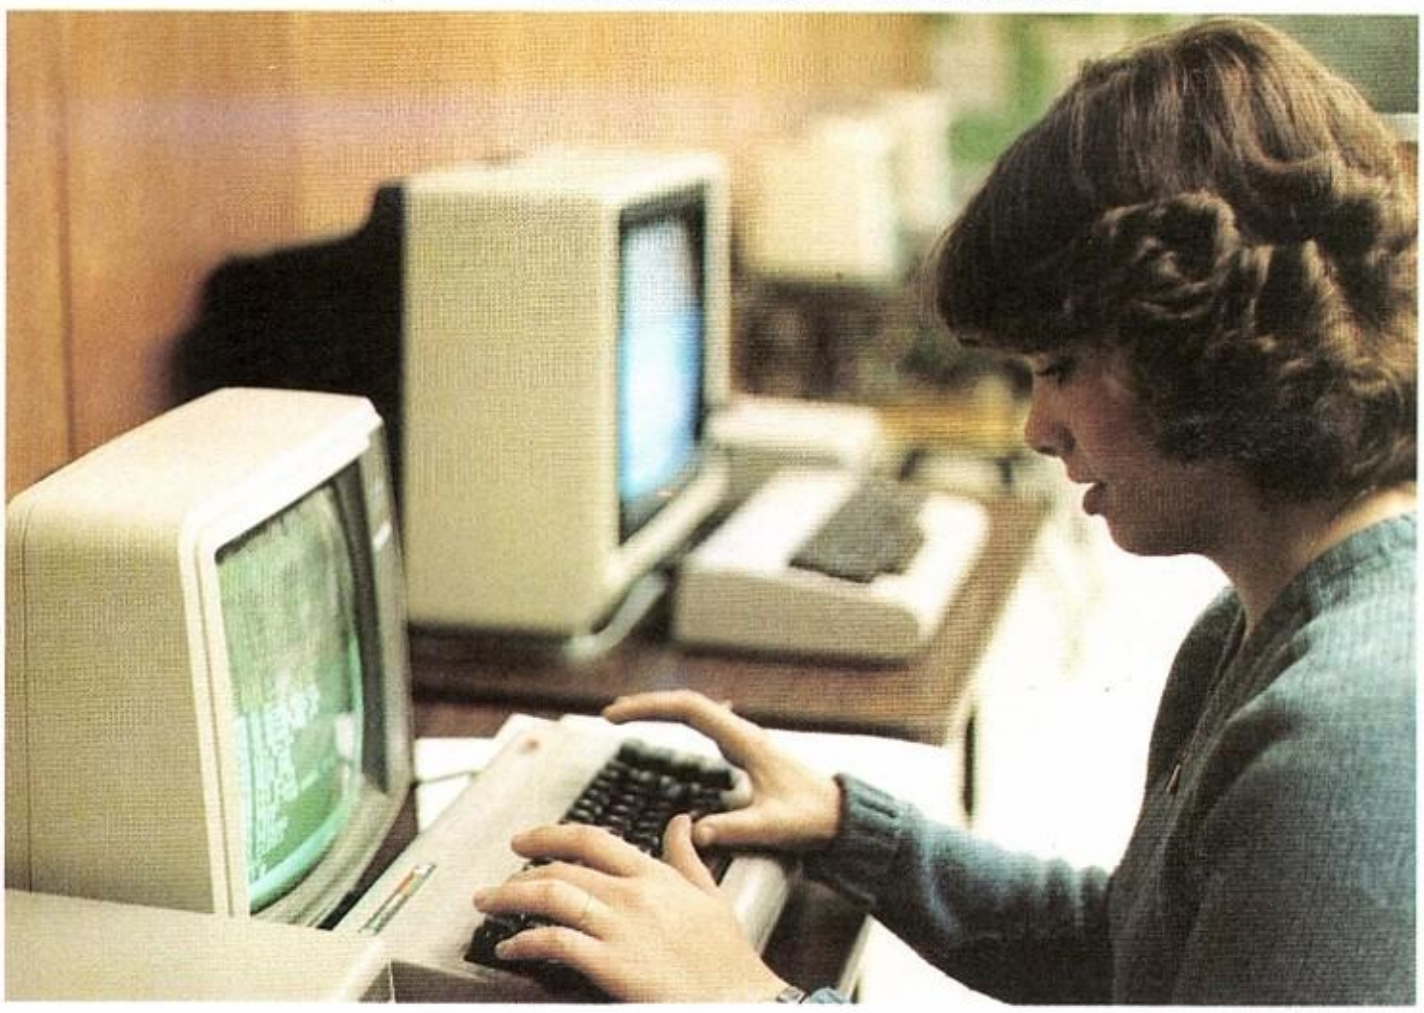
Kim Adams and D'Ann Rau seem to be enjoying volleyball practice.

The Wildcat football teams await the start of the town pep rally.

Band members stand at attention during fifth period rehearsal.

Coach Sinski and Coach Luce brief the freshman football players during a time-out.

Ginger Powers works on her Computer Science assignment.



Patrick Moran, Angie Hawkins, Joey Miller, and Joey Brown perform to "Beat It."

Kirk Harper tries to get some attention while Jim Bob Love, Matt Duhon and Chuck Johnson wonder what in the world is going on.

LeAnn Branam and Kim Krisle enjoy lunch at Kidd-Jones.

Dee Anna Heitt, Kelly McGaughey and Joey Brown work on a new stunt.

And I'll take any risk
To halt the sands of time
And treasure the Memories we shared.

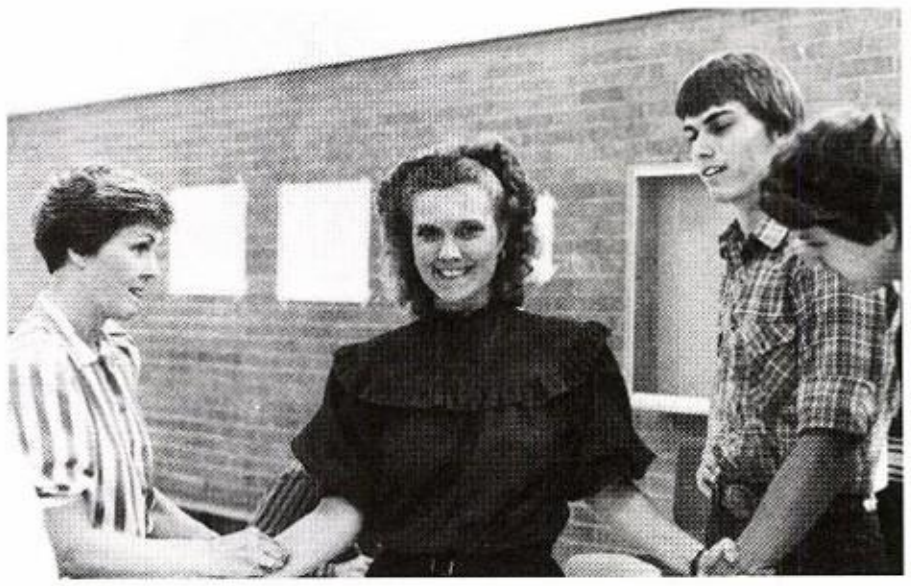
Lara Pelham and Angie Hawkins celebrate a volleyball victory while Coach Button and Lori Baker look on.

Janna Durham holds on to Kent Faught while she receives her TB shot from Mrs. Ivy.



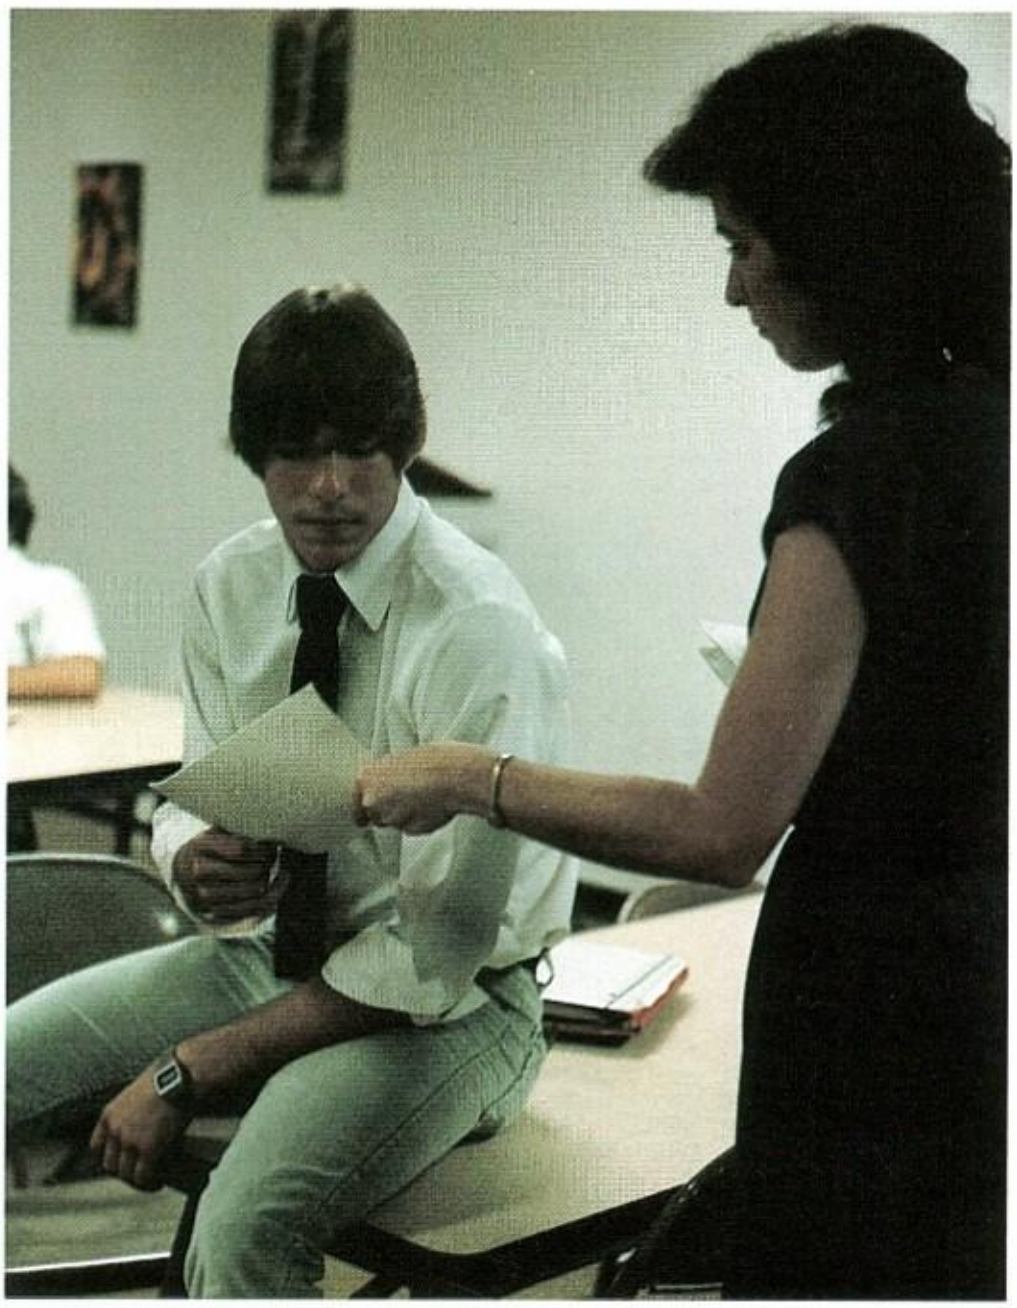
Cornet players work on marching skills.

Mrs. Cox gives Coach Westmoreland a 'spirit stick.'

Missy Partin and Staci Harris get ready for school after Tuesday morning drill team practice.

So take your seats
And don't be late . . .

Mrs. Romines instructs her homemaking class.



Miss Thompson and Roger Bateman discuss his grade.

Donna Ward has a question about drill team initiation.

The varsity Wildcats intently watch the pep rally.

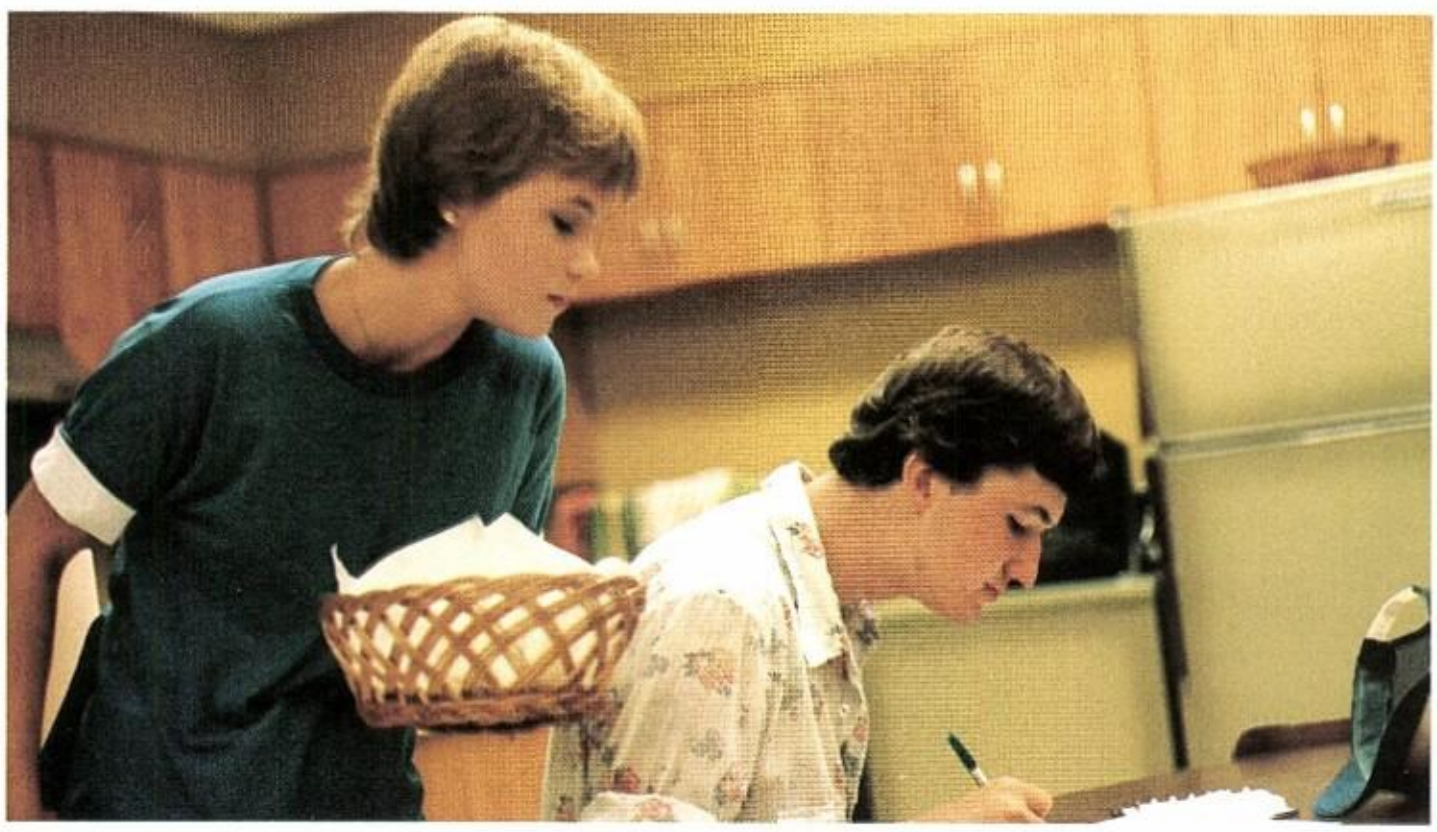
Judy Gelushia and Shontay McGregor talk about plans for the weekend.



Paula Richey wonders why David Cheetham is working instead of eating.

Cheerleaders Build Spirit

Supporting the athletic program and building spirit is a special purpose of the varsity cheerleaders. Sponsor of the eight girls is Ms. Mary Beth Hilburn. They attend camp and contests such as NCA summer camp, clinics and contests at colleges and NCA regional contests. The requirements of the organization are maintaining a "C" average, try-outs in front of judges, and then being elected by the student body. Sponsor Ms. Hilburn stated, "A student benefits in this organization through discipline, hard work, sharing, and cooperation."

Cheerleaders Spread Enthusiasm

Five ninth grade girls selected by their peers boosted spirit this year for ninth and JV athletic teams. "The squad composed of Kelly Brimberry, Stacy Eberlan, Missy Partin, Tracy Waddel, and Donna Tharpe learned spirit, cooperation and how to share ideas from their experiences," according to sponsor Ms. Mary Beth Hilburn. The cheerleaders have a class 5th period to learn chants and cheers. They must maintain a "C" average and good attendance at school.

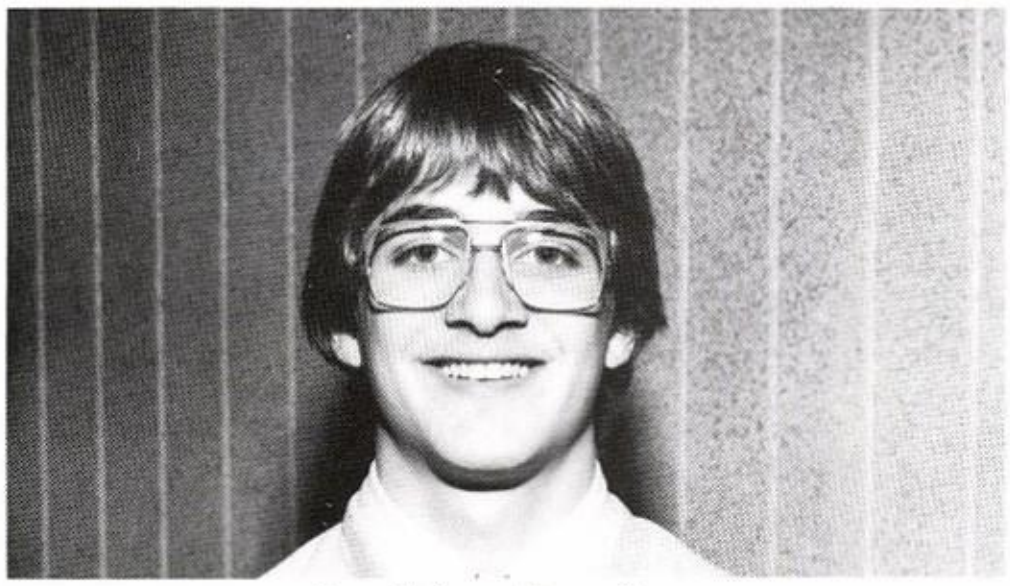
Pep Squad Adds Excitement

"Having a cooperative attitude, being a part and building spirit on campus is the main goal for the WHS pep squad," according to sponsor Ms. Mary Beth Hilburn. This organization is made up of girls in grades 9-12 who have been through the try-out procedures for drill team and cheerleader. The pep squad girls participate in home athletic contests and are responsible for paying for their uniforms and maintaining a "C" average throughout the year.

Wildcat Band



Drum Major — Danny Burns

"Inspection!" yells Mr. Ward as one band member has just finished polishing his regular tennis shoes solid white so he could keep out of trouble and perform. Band members know Mr. Ward is strict on inspection which means keeping shoes polished and horns cleaned. Band is not all hard work and summer practices for nothing though. Although some people would rather be at the lake or lazing around during the summer, band members are at hard work practicing for the upcoming year. They all say it pays off when at the football games the band receives a standing ovation. "The bus rides are wild!" stated one band member, "and draws the band much closer." Initiation is a downfall for the freshman band members. "They all get clobbered!" quoted a.senior band member. "It's embarassing but it's fun, something you'll never go through again or forget." states a freshman. To be in the band takes a lot of time and dedication, but it's all worth it when you win all ones at contest and look forward to Sweepstakes.

WHS Band Attends Contests

"Gaining a knowledge of all kinds of music is one way a student benefits from being in band," stated director Larry Ward. A student in band learns to promote school spirit and to represent WHS in every performance because this is one of the band's special purposes. The band has increased this year to 97 members. A student in band must have good attendance and have playoffs during class. The band attends contests during the year such as all UIL contests, all-region try-outs, parades, and presents concerts.

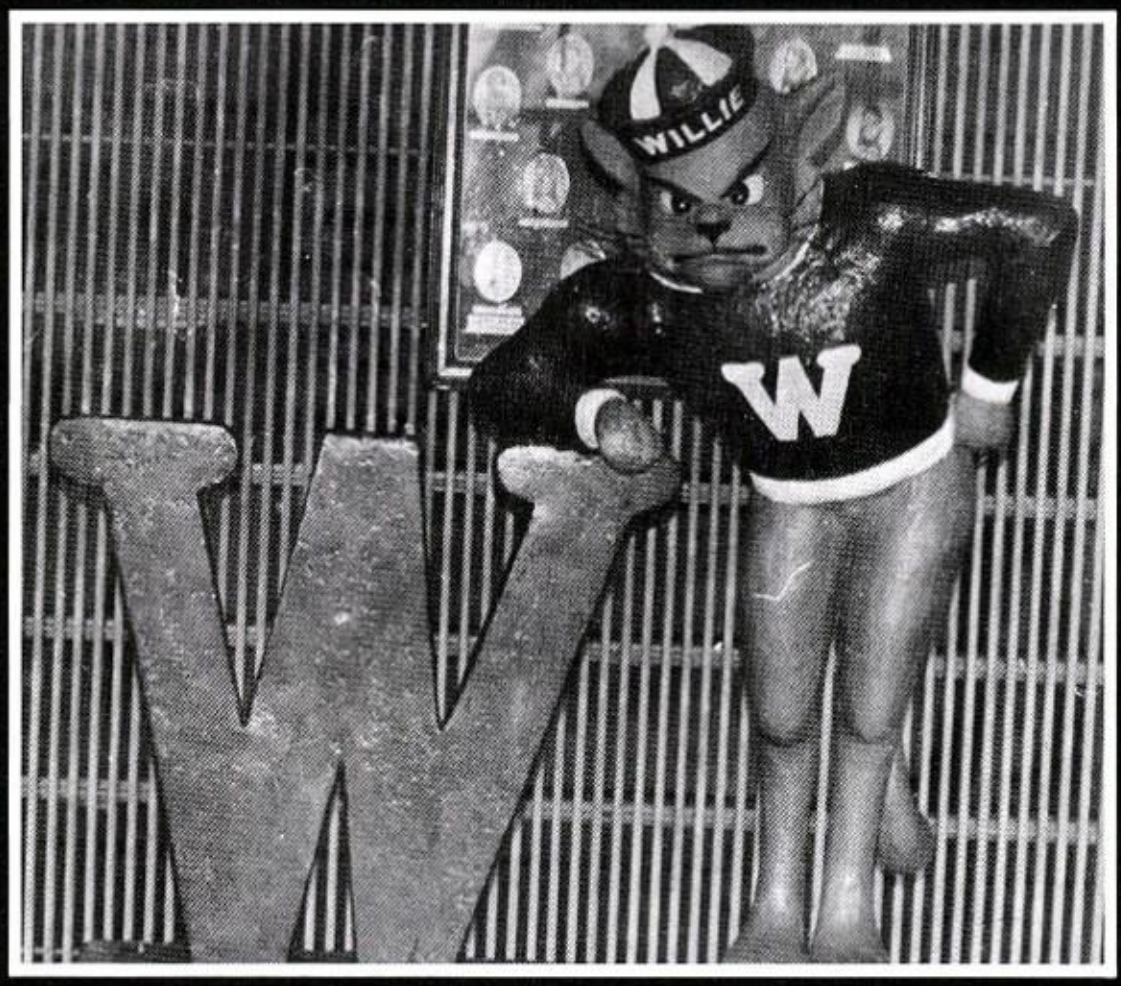
Pride Spells Key to Success

"Wildcats are number one and don't you forget it!" screamed the cheerleaders as the athletes took to the field for battle. The fans, wild with excitement, cheered their team on with pride. The team began not only a physical but mental battle as the seconds ticked away. They played hard not only for themselves, but for their fellow classmates. They wanted to make WHS a school to be proud of. They did.

The football program was faced with an extra challenge as personnel changes affected the program. But, time is the only way to adjust to these changes. The boys met the challenge by having confidence and giving 110% every day. They took pride in themselves and their team, and this pride has formed the framework for future teams to follow.

The First Ladies also faced an extra challenge this year. Although there were the usual problems, pride in their appearance was essential to them. Many hours of sweat and tears were spent by these girls in their quest to be the best that they could be. They wanted to continue to be something that WHS could be proud of and they too met the challenge. These are only two of the groups that our school has to be proud of. WHS students should be glad that they attend such a fine school. Even though situations may not always be ideal, be proud of your teammates and classmates and give them the support that they need to be the best.



Willie Wildcat stands in the gym as a symbol of pride for WHS students.

Friends Need Our Support

"Hey, Whitehouse! Hey, Whitehouse, Whitehouse!" That familiar chant which rings through the crowds at WHS athletic events giving spirit to the teams is very important. We hope this will always be heard as a symbol of pride.

Athletes and performers spent many hours preparing for games and performances. They gave all they had every time they took to the field.

These athletes and performers are our friends and classmates. They need our support to help give them spirit to make it through the crucial battles.

The Wildcatt Staff feels that friends are one of the most valuable things gained during our high school careers. Be proud of your friends. Take interest in their endeavors and support them in every way.

Students Adjust To New Teachers

"You have to get to know them and they have to get to know you. Sometimes it can be a disappointment because things are different although teachers say they won't be," stated senior Donna Waters.

With the start of the school year came new coaches and directors for many students involved in extra-curricular activities. To some, the change was easy. For others, it was very difficult.

According to Roger Bateman, the change came easy, but he felt that everyone didn't adjust to the new program.

Some athletes thought it was difficult because there were new ideas, different standards and new systems of learning that they had to get used to. Senior Donna Redfearn said, "It's hard to adjust to new teachers because you have to get used to their new ways."

To others, the change was hardly noticed. They just continued to follow instructions and do the job.

Junior Jeff Casey seemed to sum up the situation best. "You have to adjust or you'll be left behind."

Teachers Anticipate First, Last Days of School

Many events highlight the school year, but two of the most important are the first and last days of the year. Students look forward to these two days with anticipation, but have you ever wondered how the teachers feel?

Coach C.L. Nix looks forward to both days with anticipation. He says he enjoys looking at new faces and having new challenges.

"Everyone is on their best behavior on the first day of school," stated Mrs. Mary Beth Hilburn. "I just wonder when it's going to change!" When the last day rolls around, Mrs. Hilburn is excited that school is over and that she has survived.

Mr. Tom Cooper and Miss Sonja Miller anticipate the first day of school. Though Mr. Cooper is glad that summer is over, Miss Miller has negative feelings about coming back. They are both glad, however, when summer gets here.

"The first day of school is exciting," exclaimed Mrs. Cindy Nick. "The last day is a combination of sadness and relief. I'm ready for the break."

Mr. Dale Cates feels that the first day of school is noisy and off balance. "It's like setting up camp for a long stay. The last day is like abandoning an outpost. With each moment, something is turned off."

Senior English teacher Ms. Linda Johnson described the first day of school as "taking care of business day. The last day is filled with a lot of tears for me, however. It's like your child going off to college," she stated.

A Typical School Day Is . . .

"School days, school days, little golden school days. Several WHS students were asked to describe a typical school day, and some reactions were anything but golden.

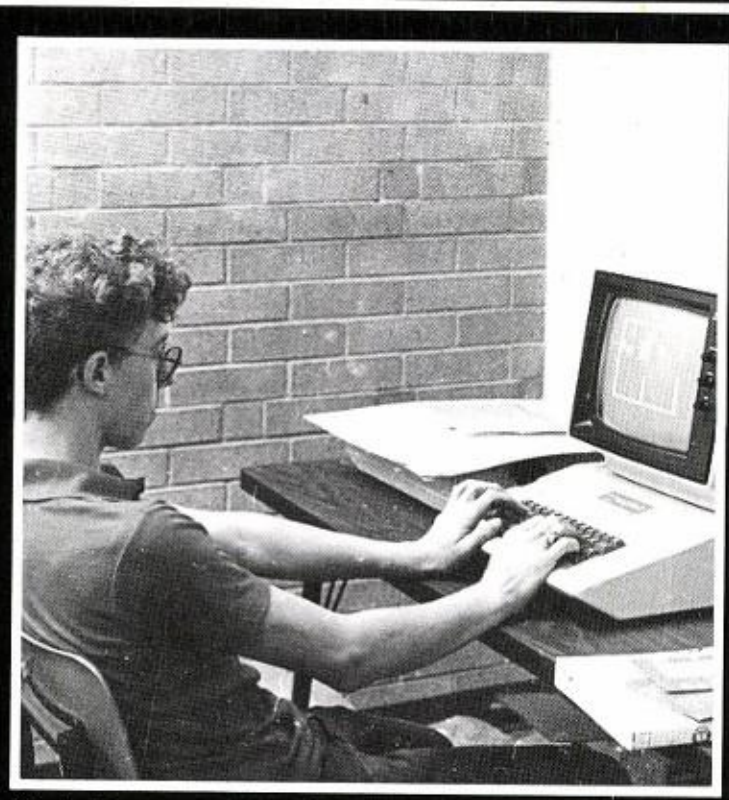
Lee Ann Neill — boring
Dee Anne Allen — dreaded
Leesa Tomlin — drawn out
Darrell Mosley — Okay
Roger Bateman — eternal
Pam Walker — long
Donna Waters — Hectic
Kent Faught — lengthy
Polly Yeager — entertaining
Eric Gray — amusing
Mary Olga Ferguson — treacherous
Donna Ward — hazardous
Donna Redfearn — confusing
Cindi Taylor — routine

Computers . . . A New Way of Life

"Computers are here to stay, stated Mrs. Fran Brazeal, teacher of WHS' Computer Science course which began this year.

About 70 juniors and seniors were enrolled in the class which was designed to teach students computer literacy so they can function in our society which is quickly becoming dominated by the computer.

A computer club was also formed this year. Field trips and guest speakers were planned as well as a computer show. Mrs. Brazeal sponsored the club. Officers were Harry Hoenscheidt, Pres., Vicki Rasberry, V. Pres., Marla Walker, 2nd V. Pres. and Tina Scott, Sec/Treas.



Chris Brent entertains himself on the computer in the counselors' office.

New Organizations Added

Two new organizations, Pep Squad and National Junior Honor Society, were formed this year to involve students and to promote spirit and academic excellence, respectively.

Mrs. Mary Beth Hilburn sponsored the pep squad which met fifth period and was made up of 38 members and 13 cheerleaders. Pep squad gave girls, who could not have otherwise participated because of membership restrictions in drill team and cheerleading, a chance to participate in the promotion of school spirit. The girls attended pep rallies and football games as well as painted spirit signs.

National Junior Honor Society, established last year in middle school, is also new to WHS this year. The 52 members chosen for academic excellence must maintain an average of 85 and make no semester grade lower than a 70. Sponsors of the group are Mrs. Nora Tucker, and Mrs. Rebecca Dunn.

12 New Teachers Added to Faculty

Many changes occurred this year as twelve new faces appeared at the front of WHS classrooms.

Linda Hutchins, Anita LeBarron and Penny Thompson filled vacancies in the English department which experienced a big turnover.

Hutchins, in her twelfth year of teaching, attended Robert E. Lee High School and earned her B.A. at Stephen F. Austin State University. She received her M.A. from the University of Texas at Tyler in December.

To influence youth and help them prepare for the real world is the goal of English teacher Anita LeBarron. LeBarron attended Winnsboro High School and furthered her education at McLennan Community College and East Texas State University where she obtained a B.A. She is presently working on her Master's at UTT.

This was the first year of teaching for English and Speech teacher Penny Thompson. She graduated from Winona High School and attended Jacksonville Baptist College as well as UTT.

Former WHS graduate Sonya Miller has returned to her alma mater for her first year of teaching. The algebra teacher, who attended UTT, says she loves working with and helping young people.

Cindy Nick, a John Tyler High School graduate, is.the new director of the First Ladies. After graduation she studied at Tyler Junior College, North Texas State University and Stephen F. Austin State University.

New to the Counseling Center is Karine Howell. A graduate of Harlem High School in Rockford, Illinois, she later attended Northern Illinois University and North Texas State. Dale Cates, a former Peace Corps teacher in Livaria, West Africa, brought new ideas to the science department this year. A graduate of John Tyler High School, Cates attended the University of Texas at Austin and received his M.S. at UTT.

Physical science and biology teacher Craig Smith graduated from Chapel Hill High School. He furthered his studies at Tyler Junior College and Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

The field house had four new faces this year as the coaching staff experienced an almost complete turnover.

Athletic Director and Head Football Coach David Pecor, who attended the University of Houston and the University of Texas at Arlington, wanted to be a coach because he loved athletics and wanted to give students what he got out of it. Pecor also teaches World History.

Coach Steve Westmoreland attended Dallas Baptist College. He coaches track, cross-country and football in addition to teaching biology and driver's ed.

Coach Art Sinski graduated from Montclair State. He coaches football and powerlifting.

Nick Junior became a coach because of the excitement of Friday nights. Junior, who attended East Central University in Oklahoma, coaches football and teaches history.

New Sports Build Program

Powerlifting and cross-country were two new sports added to the Whitehouse athletic program this year.

Powerlifting was designed to increase overall strength in the athletic program and to involve boys who were not involved in athletics. Twenty team members, along with coach Art Sinski, attended four meets in which they received a total of nine lifts. Participants received three lifts each in squat, benchpress and deadlift divisions. Winners were awarded trophies for first through third place in ten weight classes.

Cross-country gives participants a chance to build self-discipline as well as a lifelong sport which they can enjoy. According to Coach Steve Westmoreland, cross-country was designed to strengthen the track program in the distance area and to promote an interest in track. The team, which consisted of both boys and girls, worked on long and short distance races during practice to prepare them for the four meets. The races are usually held in a park or field and consisted of a three-mile run for the boys and a two-mile run for the girls.

Mock Disaster Hits Town

Car wrecks, chemical spills, radioactive accidents, looting and mass confusion livened up a Sunday afternoon for Whitehouse residents during the disaster drill held in November. The purpose of the community-wide project was to coordinate all agencies involved to see how well Whitehouse was prepared for a disaster.

Persons from all communities in Smith County, Dallas, Henderson and Palestine participated along with an Austin general and several colonels of the State Guard. Key Club and Business Law students also played a vital role by providing looters and victims.

Victims of accidents and explosions were carried to Tyler hospitals in ambulances and paddy wagons. Looters were arrested and later released by area patrollers.

"It was a success with tremendous community involvement," stated Whitehouse Police Chief Mike Pratt. "We found the problems we had, and we also found out how to correct them."

Shannon Ivy and Donna Waters participate in disaster drill.

Whitehouse Moves to 13-AAA

District 13-AAA is the new home for Whitehouse according to UIL realignment. The Wildcats, along with 15-AAA rivals Lindale and Brownsboro, will begin play in the new district starting with the 1984-85 school year.

Announced at the end of October, the new alignment will be in effect for two years. Other schools in the district include Mineola, Van, Rusk, Canton and Mabank.

"I am glad we stayed AAA," stated Whitehouse Athletic Director David Pecor. "But I'm also very surprised. We couldn't have been but a very few away from moving up. I'm also surprised at the way the district split up, but I think it gives us a good chance next year."

District Prepares for TEA Visit

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to publication deadlines, the actual date or results of the board were not available.

To be assured graduates may enter any college, the accreditation board of the Texas Education Association came to evaluate our school in the areas of administration, campuses and principals, teachers, counselors, librarians and aides, and health services. The board visits schools approximately every three years to make sure that budgets, policies, the five-year priorities plan and curriculum measure up to their standards. Achievement and TABS test information, course outlines, handbooks and emergency procedures are also checked.

"I feel Whitehouse schools are as far as or more advanced than any other school in the state in compliance with the board's curriculum guidelines and House Bill 246," stated Mrs. Jean Dowdy, WISD Curriculum Coordinator.

Motto Promotes Excellence

'In Quest of the Best' was the theme chosen for this school year by superintendent Dr. Monte Geren.

"We chose this theme not only to emphasize our search of the best in students but in teachers and administrators as well."

Though no area has been stressed more than others, Dr. Geren feels that the main purpose of WISD is to help students achieve and learn, but educators must also learn to help the students. Inservice programs were planned to help meet this ever-present need.

According to Dr. Geren, although we are average or above in all areas compared to state levels, we are always striving to improve. "Once you reach a goal, you don't stop. You set a new one and then try to achieve it. It's an ongoing process."

When asked to summarize the year, Dr. Geren felt it was a smooth year that could best be described as 'a year of preparation.'

Homecoming

Special Activities Mark Homecoming

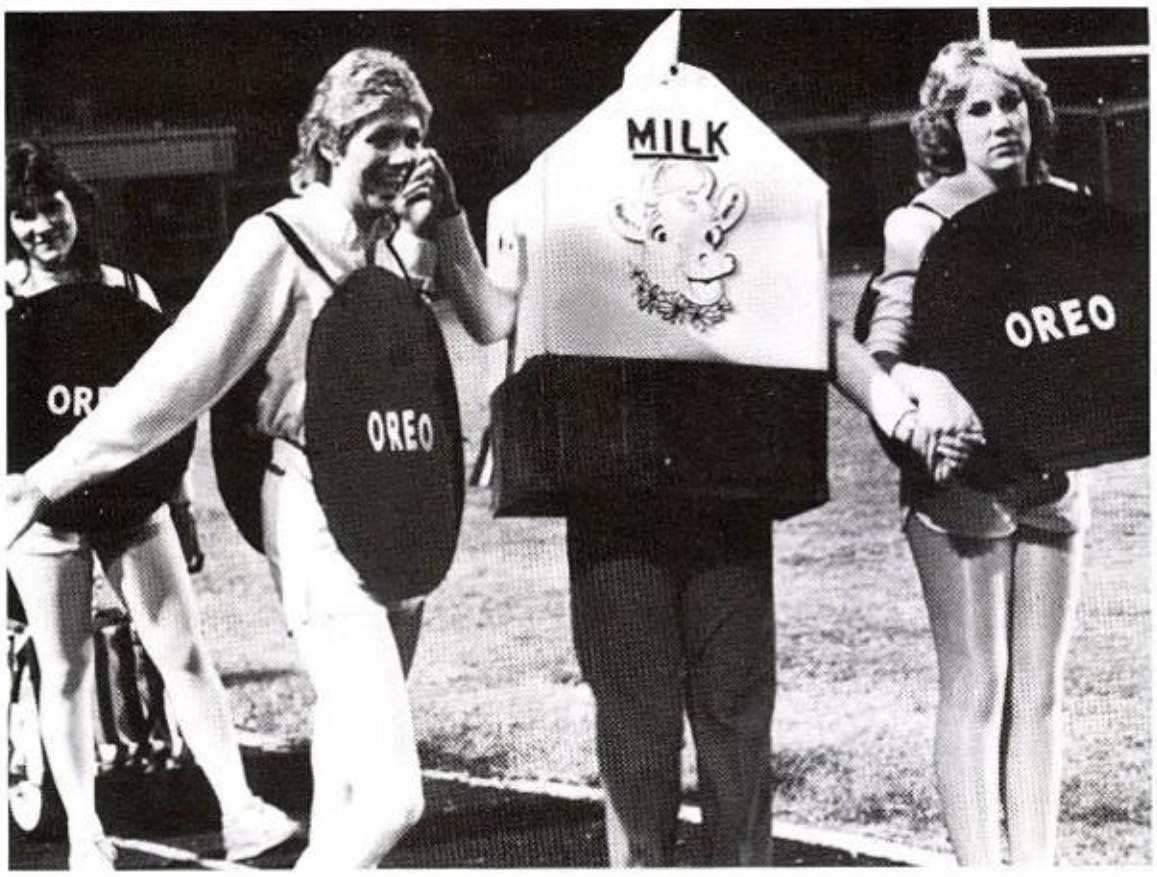
Homecoming 1983 sparked the beginning of several new activities. Throughout the week, days were set aside for students to show their spirit. Students dressed western for "Beat The Bears Day," friends dressed alike for "Double The Trouble Day," clothing was turned inside out for "Turn 'Em Inside Out Day," and students dressed in school colors on "Big Maroon And You Day."

W.H.S.'s first annual mini float parade was held Thursday night. Various clubs and organizations designed floats themed from T.V. commercials. Queen candidates and the Court were introduced and a pep rally was held in Wildcat Stadium. The Commons Area was transformed into a reception hall for the Homecoming court.

Cindi Taylor, Emily Schwane, and Nancy Witt show spirit by wear mums.

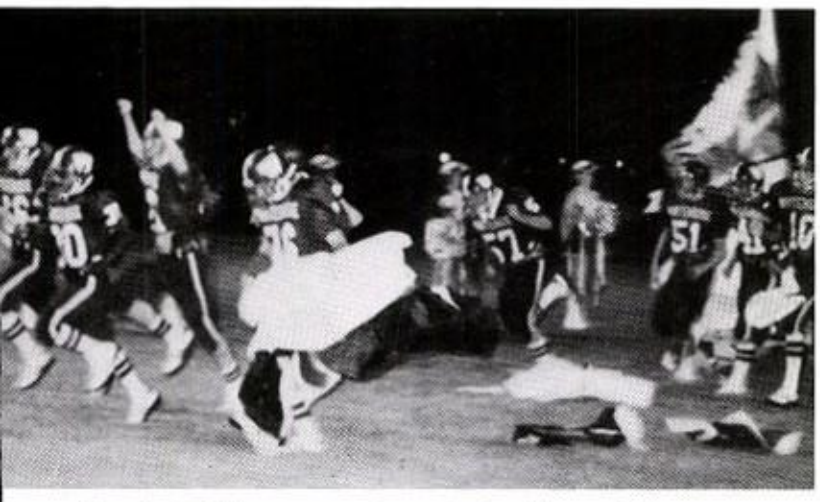
Teachers build spirit by decorating their doors.

Darrell Mosley, Chris Carlile, and Roger Bateman represent seniors with a float the "It Looks Like a Wildcat Night."

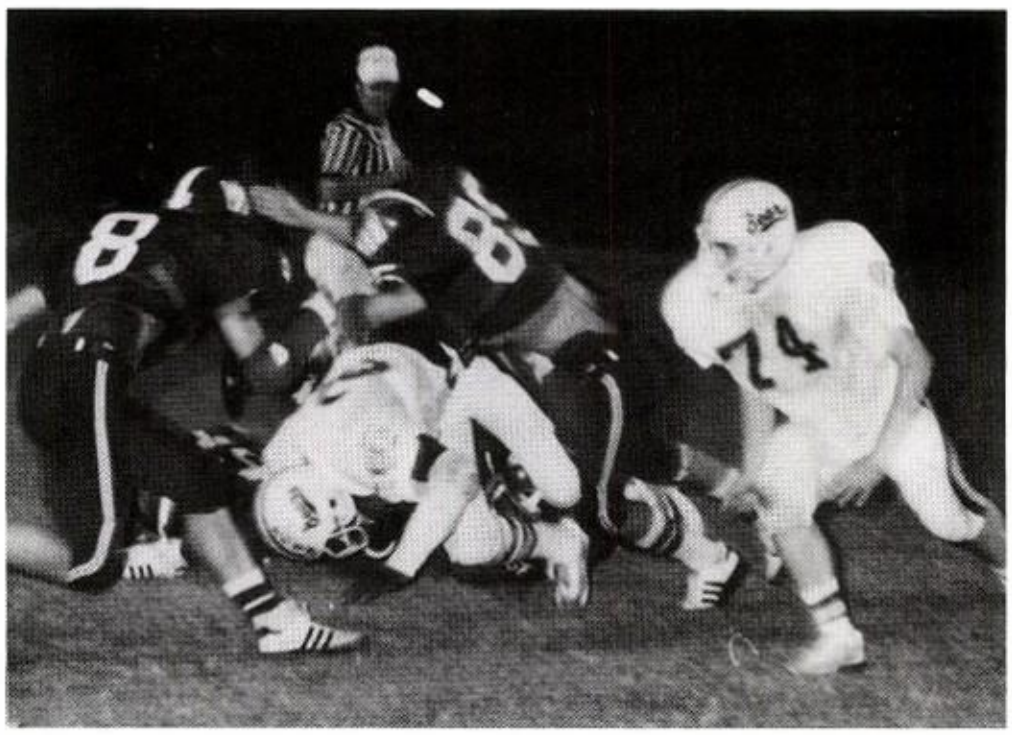


Tara McNamee, Marla Walker, Patti Lynn, and Gaylon Harmon transform into milk and cookies for the OEA mini float.

Patti Lynn takes time at Homecoming to "Stop smell the roses."



Varsity Wildcats run through the Victory Line.



The Wildcats stop the Brownsboro Bears' offense at Homecoming.

ri Bradshaw, Cindy Lewis, and Janna Clark prepare for the dcats to run through the Victory Line.

Kelly McGaughey, Angie Hawkins, Lori Baker, Joey Brown, and Connie Brown await the start of the game.

Jobs Add $'s To School Days

Many W.H.S. students hold part-time jobs in addition to their school work and extra-curricular activities.

Some students love their jobs, such as senior Terry Evans and junior Tony Hadfield who both work at Chuck E. Cheese's. Terry works

"The things I like least about my job are long hours and customers who gripe." — Terry Evans in order to have money for car maintenance, to get dates, and for activities. Tony's parents put it bluntly for him: "No job, No drive." Tony likes it though, because he gets free tokens.

Scott Waddell's favorite thing about working at Whitehouse Builder's Supply is "Getting muscles and making money." However, he hates sheetrock.

David Austin's favorite part of working at Brookshire's is, "Starting fires in the incinerator."

Cindy Taylor and GiGi Miller assist a customer in finding a sweater in J C. Penney's.

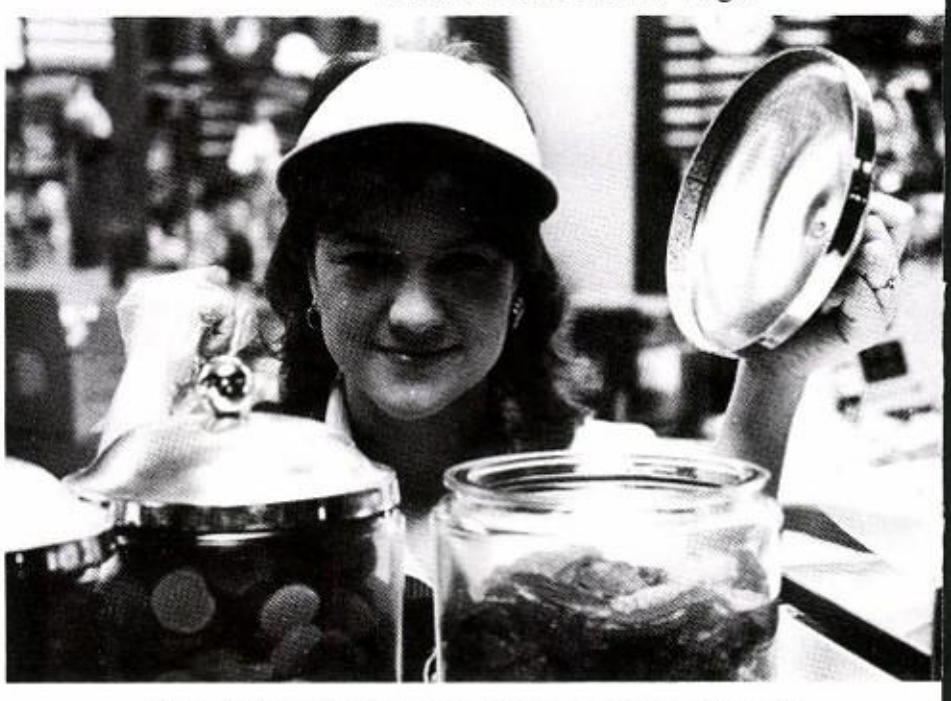
Kim Krisle and Janna Durham check out a customer together.



Judy Gelushia offers a customer a sample of candy.

Breaking Monotony

tting in class listening to a lecture can be extremely ring. Therefore, students invent all sorts of things to to "Break Monotony."

avid Austin's remedy is humming songs and flirting th girls. Beth Shirley likes to draw, daydream, and her pen on her desk.

ony Hadfield and Greg Cagle said, "We like to tell s. Williams we're going to the restroom so we can get t of class to get some Skittles."

Junior boys have a serious discussion during lunch.

The clanging of lockers, students shuffling in the halls, shouts across the parking lot to get rides home, and comments such as, "Hey Boy, move that pickup truck!! I gotta go to work!" are all sounds and sights of life at 3:05.

Students at W.H.S. are seen chatting with friends and making after-school plans before trying to "escape" the parking lot.

Students who stay after school for extra-curricular activities take a break to run to the store for a snack; that is, if they can get to the store without being run down by someone who is turning "right" out of Kidd Jones or "left" from Dr. Ray's.

Frustration is felt when students try to pull out of a parking space to find they can't move a single inch for fear of hitting "Joe Cool and his gang" who have stopped to talk to friends and listen to music right "smack-dab" in the stream of traffic.

Students dispurse from the campus to head for after-school jobs. Some look forward to going home to relax in front of the TV, talk on the phone, and listen to the stereo.

Back at school, the parking lot has become quiet and deserted. However, the entire process will be replayed when the teacher's bell rings at 3:15.

Getting Malled

Student life doesn't end at 3 o'clock. A 15 minute drive to Broadway Square Mall provides many students with something to do after a long school day. The mall offers novelty stores, places to get a quick snack, restaurants, department stores, and other shops.

Some students like to go to the mall to visit with their friends who may be working at one of the various stores. Others like to keep up with the latest fashions displayed at the modern shops.

On Saturdays the mall hosts events such as style shows, art exhibitions, and programs from local hospitals and businesses.

Time To Take 5

In the five minutes students are given between each class they must gather their books from one class, go to their lockers, exchange books, and find their way through crowded halls to their next class. Along with the normal "between class hassles", students somehow find time to talk with friends and catch up on the latest news. Many students have classes in both the north and south buildings. This calls for them to walk a distance of about 623 feet in the rain, sun, sleet or snow. A large portion of a student's best memories of school happen when it's "time to take five."

Ronda-Tapp rumages for a book while Ms. Johnson and Mr. Miller discuss their classes with Mr. Hagan.

Between classes, Keith Robinson and Ran Duncan discuss after school plans.

Mrs. Metler, Jan Amberson, and Roy Marshall make their way to class through crowded halls.

Ottis Cameron and Robert White walk to class as Stacy Rovan and Sherry Heinman pass by.

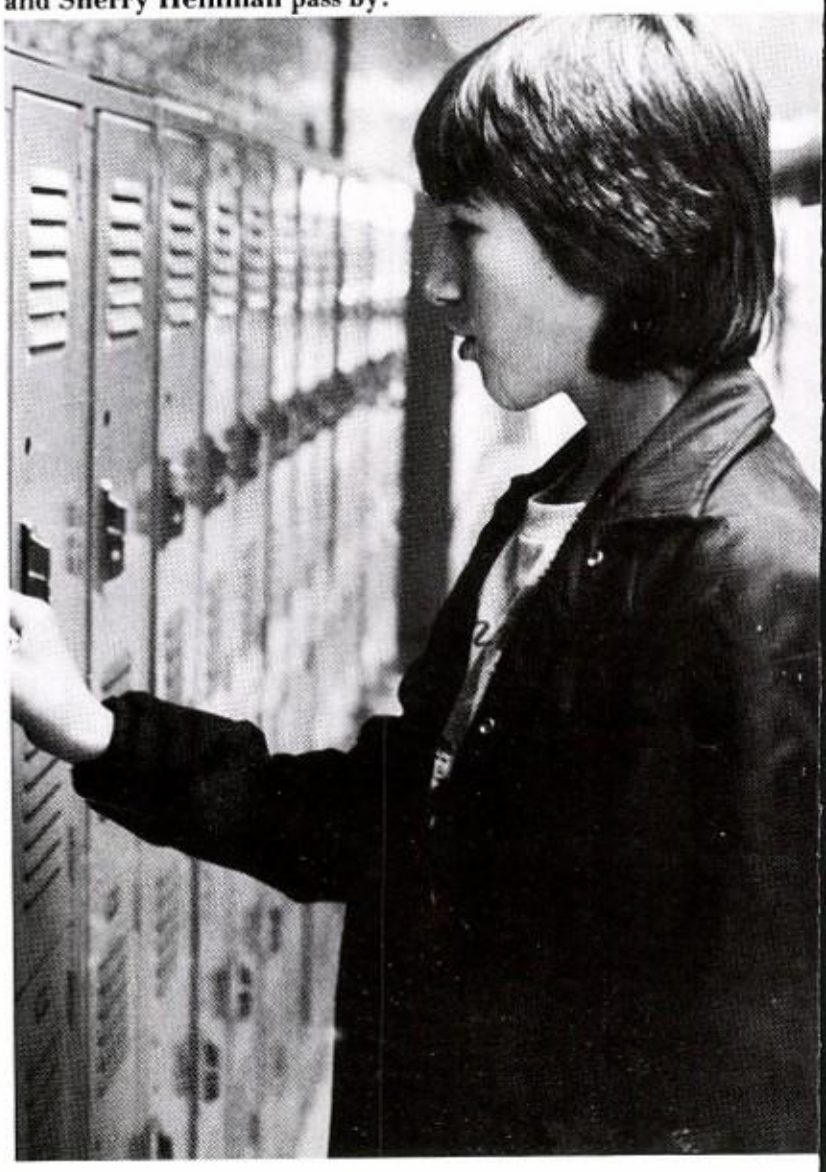
Students scramble to get from the south building to the north building in five minutes.



Robb Grube opens his combination lock to get to his books

Shontay McGregor wears a Polo Club shirt to show her knowledge of trends.

Cindy Moody displays her twist-a-bead necklace while studying for a test.

Everything from hairstyles to cars set trends that students adapt to and follow. Probably the most popular trends are set in the clothing guys and girls wear. For girls, fashions from other countries such as Mexican dresses and Chinese print shirts are seen. Even movies set trends. The movie "Flashdance" brought flashdance sweatshirts and dancewear. Striped and baggie pants, large belted shirts, and short fold down boots are very popular. The preppie and western looks are two of the more noticeable campus looks. Bandanas, add-a-bead necklaces, twister bead necklaces, and large earrings are worn to accent clothing. Guys are seen in sleeveless T-shirts worn with layered clothing. Oxford shirts are popular, especially when worn with Members Only jackets. Cowboy boots, western shirts, and Wranglers are an obvious trend at W.H.S. Topsiders and Nike shoes seem to be the norm.

Both girls and guys are wearing Ocean Pacific and Hobie Cat clothing. Anything with argyle, Ralph Lauren Polo, Jordache, and Izod LaCoste is also worn. Even punk rock hairstyles are liked by both.

Music has made an emphasis on the lives of students.

Trends of the Times

From rock to pop to country to soul is heard coming from students' car stereos. Michael Jackson is probably the most popular with his "Thriller" album being the number one seller. Other popular groups are Men At Work, Van Halen, Journey, The Police, Alabama, Kenny Rogers, Barbara Mandrell, Irene Cara, Air Supply, and Lionel Richie.

Current trends also persuade the ways in which they spend their money. Students are seen driving in everything from new Trans Ams and Cameros to older Mustangs and 4X4 pickups. Weekend activities range from going to movies, cruising Broadway, playing video games, and going to concerts.

Wearing new wave clothes is one trend, David Austin follows.

Joey Brown displays the latest preppy look by wearing an argyle sweater and socks.

Varsity

"Coaching is trying to help each individual player develop to his maximum potential," stated athletic director and varsity football coach, David Pecor. Football is not for everyone the way it is supposed to be played. It takes a tremendous desire to play. A person has to learn to accept pain and sell himself on the idea of a team. "It takes being ready to separate self from just a player in a uniform or someone who excels and is a winner," pointed out Coach Pecor. It doesn't take a big person to be a good player; smaller people can do just as well. No matter the size a person has to use every physical gift he has been given. The head mentor added that football is a team oriented sport. A person not giving all can destroy a team.

Faith in Others Makes a Team

Everybody knows what football is but not everybody knows what it takes to play football. Football is a team sport. A team, defined by junior quarterback Kent Faught, is faith in others that they will do their job, and this faith will make you try that much harder to do yours. Senior starter Roger Bateman feels it takes everyones' attitudes being aimed towards one goal — to make a team. "Part of being on a team is pulling together as one even when victories do not always come your way," stated senior Cliff Walker.

"It is fun at times; fans like it and everyone enjoys glory when it is there," stated senior Lornando Brown when asked why he plays football. All 27 team members have their own reasons for staying after school each day and giving their all. Not only does a team take working together, it takes each player as an individual sharing his personalities and abilities. Individuals add character to a team and teach each other things they may never have learned otherwise.

Football Gives Lasting Memories

"Making the varsity team when they said I wouldn't have a chance," stated senior starter Randy Draughn, "is what I will remember most from this year." Everyone will have his own special thing to remember; some may be the times of being together and the valuable things they learned from each other. While others may remember the hard practices and the trying times. All of this goes along with being a part of something special — a team.

JV Learns to Win

Maturing and polishing fundamentals already learned is only a part of what Junior Varsity football is all about. Coach Nick Junior stated that Junior Varsity is a war with pads on, a game of violence. It takes a special type person to play the coach added. "Junior Varsity has learned to win. They couldn't stand to lose, you could see it in their faces so therefore they played as hard as they could every game," said Coach Junior.

Cross-Country is available to all men and women not just the students already enrolled in the athletic program. Team members practice on both long distance for endurance and short distance for a powerful finish. Eric Gray stated that "you only get out what you put in." The cross-country meets are held on Saturdays with the boys running three miles and the girls two. Randy Remington added that "cross-country is more relaxing than track because you get to run through parks, fields, or maybe even a golf course." According to Westmoreland, "Cross-Country is not track although it was established to strengthen and prepare the existing track program."

Lady Cats Power Was Team Effort

Hardwork, team effort, determination, skill, fans, and the love of the sport was the power behind the varsity volleyball team this year in their efforts to carry on the ladycat tradition. "When all the fans came to the games and yelled for us, it gave me a special feeling that they cared about us," stated Barbie Gabbard. But it was more than just the fans, it was true team efforts. "To me a true teammate is someone who is confident in herself and in her teammates. In this year's team, I feel that I had five true teammates on the court and a strong bench behind me," commented junior setter Lara Pelham. Making it to Bi-district playoffs was a result of the confidence that was displayed in the Ladycat team.

Freshman Volleyball Teaches Basics

"Freshman Volleyball," commented Coach Susan Wade, " is designed to teach basic volleyball skills, to promote interest in the game, to develop good sportsmanship, to create team spirit, and provide an opportunity for the girls to compete interscholastically." Coach Wade added that in freshman volleyball the girls learn how to run a game offense and defense. This is different from the way they have ever played before. Donna Johnson added, "It is a totally different game; you try to set and spike the ball instead of just hit it over the net."

Basketball Takes

"Athletics is a reflection of life," stated head basketball C. L. Nix. "So therefore I try to teach them not only how to be a good basketball player, but also I try to teach all aspects of good citizenship as well. To play basketball you have to be willing to give two to two and a half hours to practice every day," but according to coach Nix, "To be good you must show extreme dedication, have the willingness to work, be clean cut morally and physically, and have outstanding athletic ability." Coach Nix feels that the team made tremendous progress and that everyone on the team this year could play good basketball.

When asked what practice consists of Chris Carlile replied, "We go over the basic plays and shots so that every move will become automatic, but the biggest thing a practice consists of is a lot of hard work." "To have a good practice everyone must give 100% and have their thoughts aimed on the one main goal — winning and having a good time while doing it," commented Steve Johnston.

JV BASKETBALL

Dedication Forms the JV

Junior Varsity basketball is a learning experience for athletes under the twelfth grade level. This year's JV basketball traveling team consisted of 12 to 15 selected players. This year's team competed against varsity teams in addition to playing their district games and tournaments. JV has district playoffs but there are no State playoffs. "A good basketball team is formed from dedicated players," stated junior varsity basketball coach Robert Hood. "A dedicated basketball player is always hustling and giving all he has got. He may not be the one who gets all the points or the one who gets all the glory, but he is always out there trying."

Feel the Tension

You get fouled. The whistle is blown. The official makes the call. He tells you that you will be allowed to shoot a one in one. As you approach the free throw line, you can feel the tension in the air; the sweat is forming on your palms; and you know you must make the shot. Your teammates and your opponents are lined up on both sides of the lane anxiously awaiting the outcome. A hush falls over the crowd and all eyes are on you as the referee hands you the ball. You take the ball and dribble it once so you can wipe your hands on your shorts. You dribble the ball a second time to give yourself a moment to think this through. Now that you know what to do, you dribble the ball just once more. You catch it firmly and set your hands. The shot is up. Will it make it? The ball hits the backboard and rolls around on the rim. Finally! It falls in. You made it! A sigh of relief mixed with disappointment echoes through the gym. The referee blows the whistle and throws you the ball only to make you relive this scene again.

Freshmen Build Strong Program

This year's Freshman team consisted of fourteen players. They worked out once a day during third period. The freshmen won the majority of their district games and participated in the Robert E. Lee Tournament. The freshmen play eight minute quarters just the same as the other teams. Coach C. L. Nix said, "This year's team has similar ability. They are all good athletes with a lot of character, make good grades and have outstanding citizenship. They are a unique group of boys."

Basketball Requires Desire

"This year's varsity basketball team is young and has shown improvement as they developed this year," said girl's basketball coach Roger Button. Each year is different to Coach Button as he is faced with the challenge of developing each individual player into a unified team. To do this, Coach Button said he tries to organize each practice so that it will not only help the team but will also motivate each player. He likes to see the players use all their abilities and talents which they were given. Coach Button said, "The girls have to have a burning desire to sacrifice and put forth the extra effort to excel in order to prepare themselves for competition."

"Basketball is a great challenge," stated junior Beverly Ervin. "It takes your wanting to play and being willing to put forth all the strength you have for every game and every practice." Many hours are spent in practice so the athletes can improve their skills and get to know each other so they will be able to predict what their teammates will do in specific game situations. This year's basketball team is young and seems to be a very close team. Although the scoreboard may not indicate a win everytime, the ladycats always seem to have a special gain. Teamwork Is Essential

"Basketball is a team sport made up of several unique individuals who must always be working together," says Roger Button. Besides having the natural talent and willingness to work, basketball players are made up of two main things: always having the patience to work things through and the ability to encourage others all the time not just when they need it most. Vicki Stafford commented, "A team is not a team if the members cannot work together and help each other." Barbie Gabbard stated that another physical attribute to being a good basketball player is that it requires sweat and a lot of guts. When the game gets tough, fine skills falter and you are running only on guts.

BASKETBALL

JV Gives Experience

The Whitehouse Junior Varsity basketball team worked together first period and after school with a strong will and determination that makes a true team. Although many play simply for the fun of the sport, basketball can be a learning and growing experience that will give them memorable times to cherish and look back on in years to come. The relationship among the players and the way they work together is what basketball is all about, not how many games are won or lost. Susan Wade stated, "The attitude of the team has to be positive at all times or it will show up on the court and will affect the performance of the team."

Sonja Stewart tries to get open so Wendy Williams can make the pass.

Sonja Loftin concentrates on her free throw, while Leslie Beddingfield and Wendy Williams get set for the rebound.

Powerlifting Provides New Opportunities

Today is the day of the first powerlifting meet. The alarm goes off. He rolls over to look at the time. It is only 4:00 a.m. He must hurry and get ready in order to be at school by 5:00. At 5:15 the bus pulls out, the participants are finally on the road. It may be early in the morning and a long drive, but everyone is too anxious to sleep. The time is 7:30 when they reach the school where the meet is to be held. The first thing he had to do was to stand in line to register and receive the number that was issued to him. This number is going to be his identification for the remainder of the day. After this he is weighed in and told his starting weight to lift in the opening round. While waiting for everyone else to register, he starts loosening up. It is now time to start the meet. After a few other participants lift, it is finally his turn. He approaches the bar. He is so nervous. He takes a deep breath and begins to lift the weight. First he must get under the bar and position himself; then he must bend down so his legs are parallel to the ground. He stands up. He has three chances to do this. If he misses, he still gets the opportunity to try again until his three tries are up. After the squats they procede to the bench press and then the deadlift. The idea is to reach the maximum amount of weight he can lift. After everyone has lifted, he anxiously waits for the amount of each individual lifted in each division and add them together to find everyone's total weight. This determines who wins. Win or loose the powerlifter leaves with a feeling of satisfaction from having participated.

Tennis

VARSITY TENNIS

"Tennis is one of the few sports where the competitors are never in contact with each other because of a barrier between them," commented Coach Susan Wade, "therefore, they must have tremendous concentration and patience as well as being in good physical shape." The players are not only divided by a barrier but the sport is divided into two games, a single game and a doubles game. One can participate in either but not in both. On this year's varsity team we have two boy's and two girl's doubles team. The other five players participate in singles. In order to win a game the players must win two out of three sets. A set is six games and the participant must win by two games to complete a set. The way a game is scored is love-15-30-40-game, this must also be won by two to complete a game. With two returning players who competed in the state tournament, this year's team looks promising.

J.V. Provides Experience

"Junior varsity tennis is designed to prepare the players for varsity and provide them with the playing experience needed to compete," commented Coach Susan Wade. This year's team consists of nine players who practice after school with the varsity team. With hard work and determination the J.V. has potential to become tough competitors.

Track Comprised of Day Long Events

"Track meets are all day events that involve preliminaries, with a short intermission, followed by the finals for all participants who received the best eight times in the preliminaries," says Coach Steve Westmoreland, the preliminaries consist of the 400 meter dash, 100 meter dash, 100 meter hurdles, 400 meter relay, 200 meter dash, 110 meter high hurdles, and 300 meter intermediate hurdles. In all there are 15 events in a track meet. A participant can compete in only five events, three of these being running and two field events or vice versa. There is no way to describe a track participant because track is divided up into five different divisions — sprinters, middle distance, distance, jumpers, and weight people. When an individual competes, he competes as an individual for team points.

TRACK

Track Requires Desire

"The desire to prepare to win is more important than the desire to win," says Coach Roger Button. The Ladycats prepare to win by practicing first period and after school. Their practice is based mostly around two meter training even for the distance runners. Along with this they work on stretching program, jumping program, form running, interval training, and weights. While preparing to win the runners often receive injuries. At the first of the season they suffer with aches and soreness. During the middle of the season they receive muscle pulls if they do not warm up properly and shin splints from running on hard surfaces. Toward the end of the season the team is often struck with fatigue. "These injuries cut down or eliminate practice time and this impedes progress," commented Coach Button.

Christy Tarbutton, Andrea Cordell, Melinda Faught, and Reanauta Duncan warm up together.

JUMPERS: Beverly Ervin, Dana Robinson, Sonja Stewart, Becky Remington, Delora Dorsey

WEIGHT PEOPLE: Delondra Duncan, Kim Rogers, Diana Duncan

Competitive greatness is obtained with praise and confidence. To have praise and be truly confident you must be in condition, know you are fundamentally sound in skills, and possess the proper team attitude.

Baseball Takes Natural Ability

"To play baseball," Coach Bill Luce emphasized, "It takes a good positive attitude, willingness to work other than is required at practice, always be working to do what is right and refuse to do what is wrong, and never complain about how often you are allowed to play." Coach Luce added, "Sure, baseball takes natural ability, quickness, and a good arm but a good baseball player will never make excuses — just work hard to correct mistakes and improve talents. This year the 20 boys playing varsity and 19 junior varsity have one common goal: trying to score as many points as possible in a no-time limit seven innings without getting out while playing defense they try to get three outs against their opponent by using one of the several methods to accomplish this.

All State pitcher Kenny Morris practices on his pitching.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

Basketball Regional Finalists

Athletics Plays a Vital Part

One of the vital parts of student life at Whitehouse is the athletic program. The students seem to enjoy spending their free time in practice after school or at games in the evenings. A lot of time is spent in practice, but it always seems to pay off to the ones who participate and are willing to give 100 per cent. This year's basketball team made it as far as the region play-offs. All the other sports participants have excelled and shown a tremendous desire to win. Winning does not always mean having the best score; it takes being a good sportsmanlike team to fill the requirements of a true winner.

Chris Carlile, Kenny Morris, and Roy Johnson warm up together before a game.

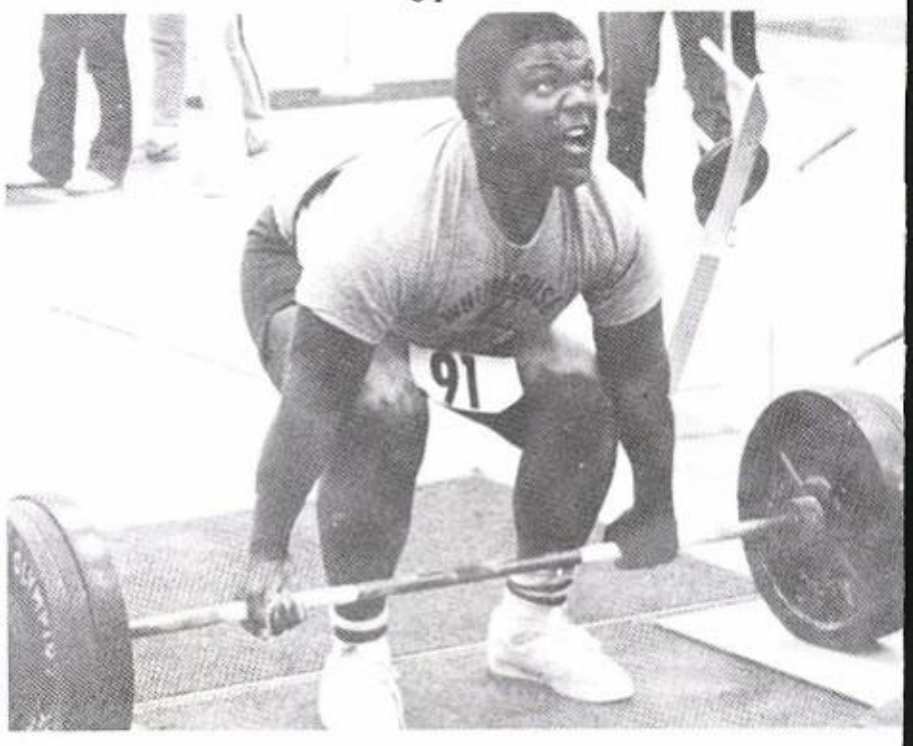
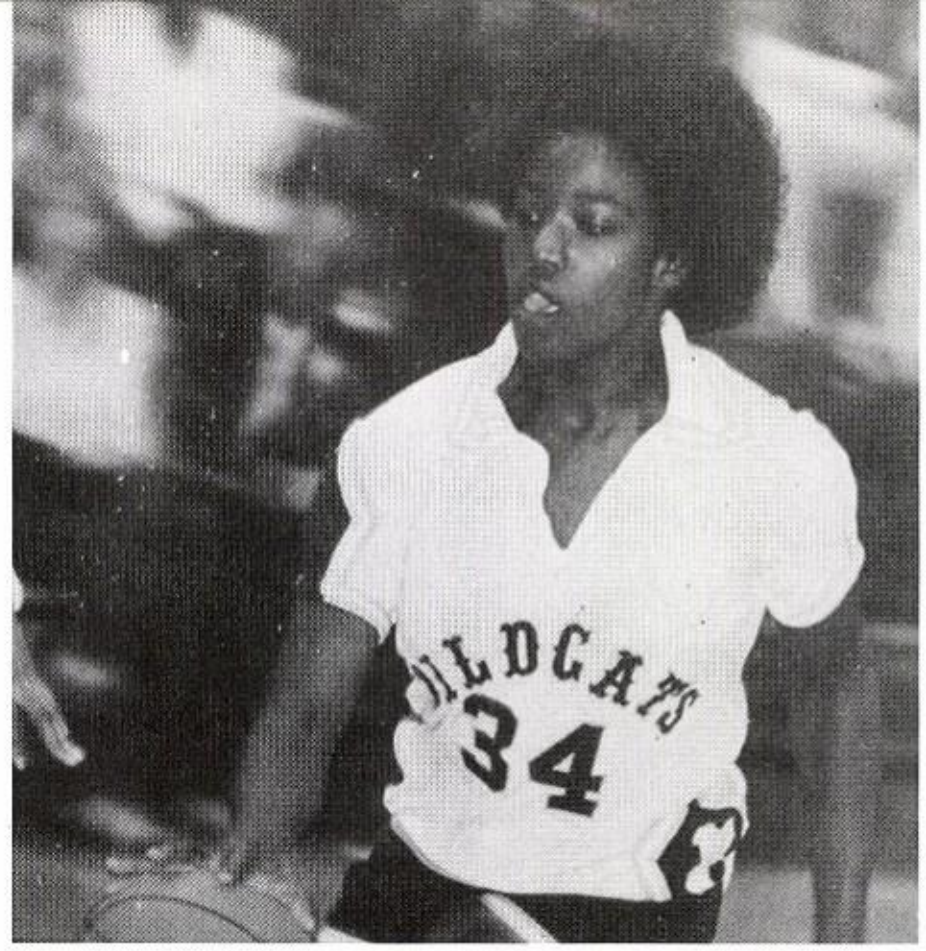
Coach Button prepares the Ladycats before a big game.



Charles Bell goes for a new goal in the dead lift.

Joey Abna sits this one out due to injury.



Beverly Ervin dribbles down the court to set up a Ladycat play.

The powerlifting team listens to Coach Sinski before the meet.

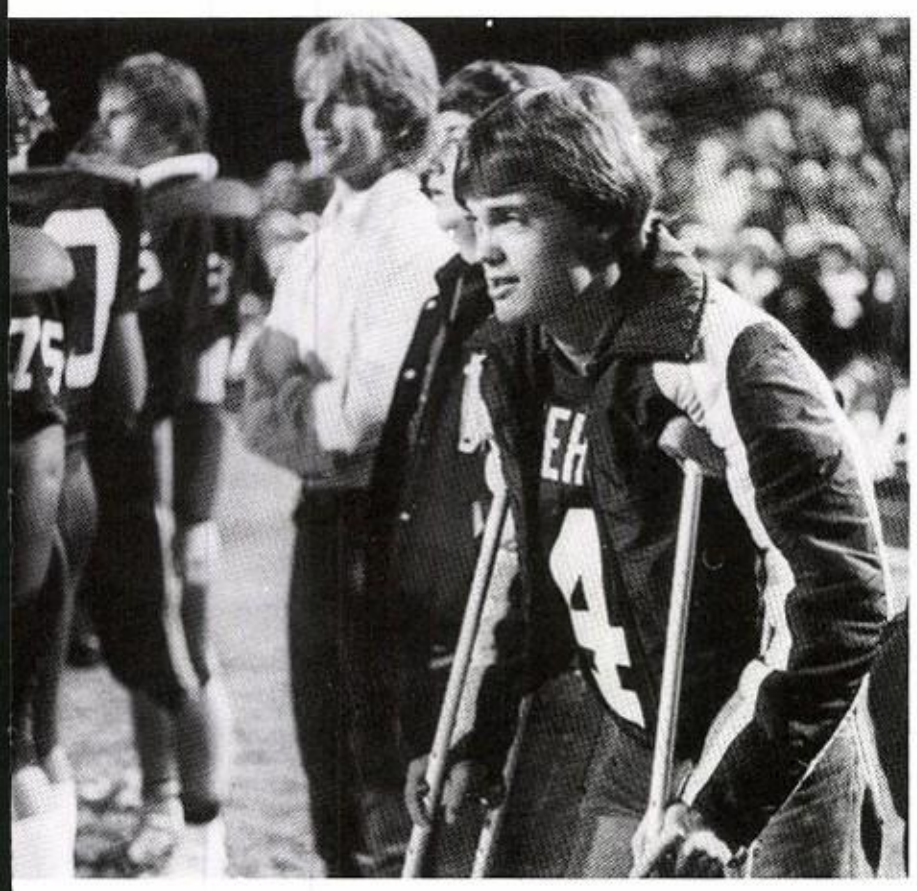
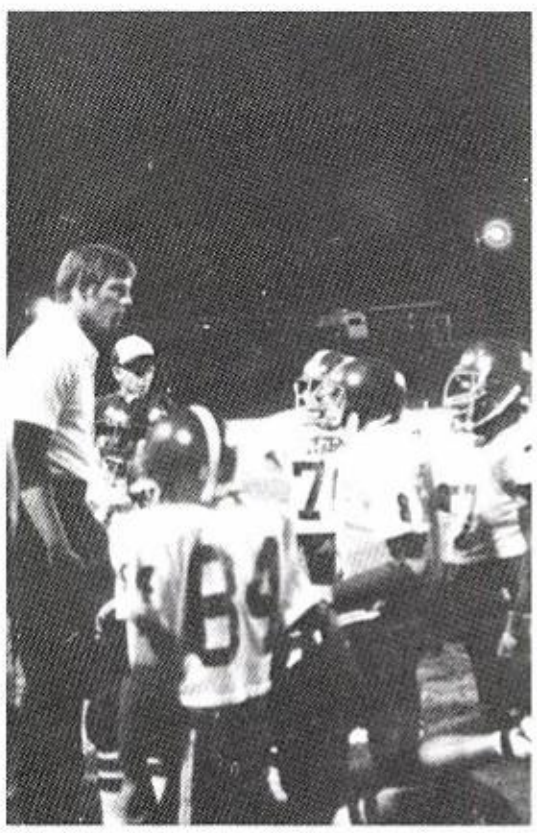
Chris Carlile comes out after a tough game.



Von Johnson watches from the sideline because injury keeps him off the field.



Coach Pecor briefs the Wildcats before a tough game.

This year's sports section, we hope captured for you the trill of winning as well as the agony of defeat.

Geren Strives for Effective School System

"My goal, as superintendent, is to operate an efficient, but effective school system," stated Dr. Monte Geren, supervisor of 2541 students along with 151 personnel. Reviewing curriculum and academic standards are the goals the administration is working toward this year, along with a long range study of district needs and planning for some possible new programs. Dr. Geren commented, "The 83-84 school year is a period of preparation."

"There are many trying, but yet rewarding things that go along with the job of superintendent," stated Dr. Geren. "One of the most trying things for me is operating on a basis of being responsible to everyone." "However," according to Dr. Geren, "there is always something good when there is something bad. It always makes me feel good to have a student or parent express their appreciation for certain teachers or classes," stated the superintendent.

Neill Assumes New Position

"As I take on the responsibilities of my new position, I hope to make everything more pleasant for our school system," stated Marshall Neill. Mr. Neill has recently taken on the responsibilities of Director of Special Services. He noted that his new responsibilities would include maintenance, food service, textbook custodian, and he will be in charge of Federal Programs. Mr. Neill expressed with mixed feelings that even though he is looking forward to the change, he will miss his teaching career and "I will miss the close relationship I have with my students." Mr. Neill has taught science in our school district for 15 years and has also served as head of the high school science department.

Dowdy Updates Curriculum Trends

"I hope to make curriculum an ongoing process this year," stated Mrs. Jean Dowdy, Curriculum Coordinator of W.I.S.D. "My main goal this year is to figure out where we want to go, set up goals, and strive to meet those goals, especially in the areas of math and reading." Mrs. Dowdy works to update the trends in curriculum and keeps the teachers informed about what is developing in their teaching field. She also works on refining curriculum objectives. "It makes me feel good to know that all my hard work is worthwhile," stated the coordinator.

McGaughey Faces New Challenges

"I am going through the transition with an open mind and a positive attitude," stated Dick McGaughey. Mr. McGaughey has recently accepted the responsibilities of Business Manager and Tax-Assessor Collector. His responsibilities include managing taxes for the school district, planning the budget, and working with the superintendent and principals as purchasing agent for all schools. He noted that he is looking forward to learning the many facets of his new job. "First, I would like to learn the workings of the current business affairs and perhaps later make positive changes, as needed," Mr. McGaughey added. Mr. McGaughey previously served as Director of Special Services for the school district.

Principals Serve Faculty, Students

"My job as Principal, is to serve as instructional leader and see that the students and faculty have the best school possible," stated Robert Hagan. As instructional leader, he enjoys seeing students excel and know that his efforts were worthwhile.

"I enjoy seeing students succeed, change and mature, and feel that I had a part in their growth," commented Willie Nichols. As Assistant Principal, he deals with the students and their day to day problems.

Teachers Are People Too!

Teachers are people too! They have feelings just like you and me. They laugh, cry, love, and sympathize. They also like to have someone show appreciation and sympathy for them. Their feelings can also be hurt by students who misbehave or say thoughtless things about them. When their feelings are hurt, they cannot show it because they are supposed to set an example for students.

Teachers enjoy kicking back and relaxing. Some of their favorite ways of relaxing are wearing grubby old clothes or old jeans and a sloppy T-shirt, going barefoot, daydreaming, goofing off, and maybe even climbing a pecan tree.

Teachers also have a more serious side. They want to help students academically. They want students to be able to survive in the outside world on their own. They not only want to help academically but also they are interested in students as people. They realize that students have personal problems and they like to help. They are here to help students not just discipline them. Students think of teachers simply as teachers, but teachers are people too!

Senior yearbook staff members take a break from their work to pose for a picture.

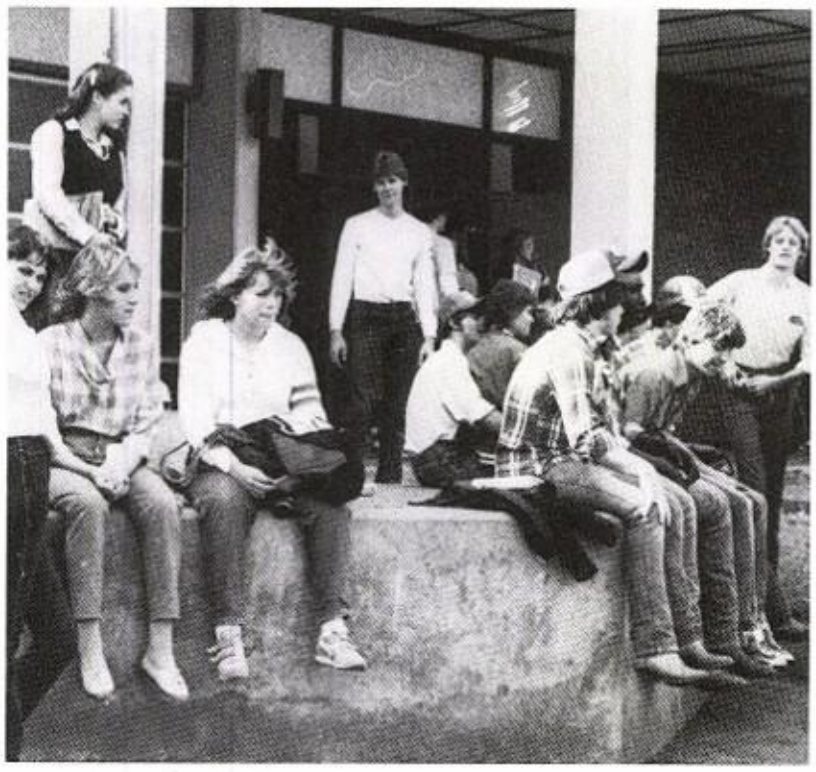
Kirk Harper plays the drums after a pep rally as John Graham watches and Benton Tatum looks for friends.

Coach C. L. Nix looks over the day's plans for his government classes.

Chris Brent, Luke Bickham and Darrell Mosley portray Patton, Napoleon and Einstein, respectively, in their senior English class.

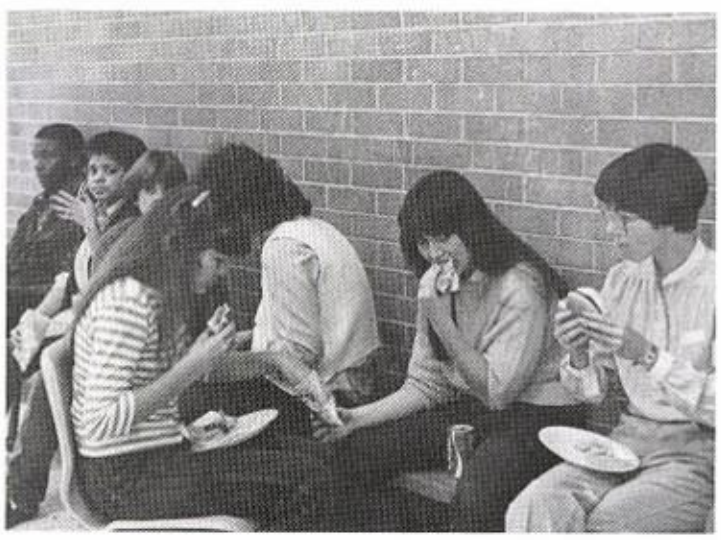
Senior Darrell Mosley boards the bus for an out-of-town basketball game.

And so my friends
We say goodbye,
But time has taken its toll.
This year can always last
As long as we keep alive
The memories of Whitehouse
High.
Those were the best of times.



Several students gather around the flagpole to visit with friends after school.

Gayla Brewer gets her books for the next class.



Students enjoy their lunch in the commons area.

Thank You

I would like to thank Mrs. Brewer for all the help and encouragement that she has given the staff this year. My thanks also goes to the administration and faculty for all their cooperation. Most of all, I'd like to thank the staff for all the time and hard work they spent to make the 1984 Wildcat what it is.

Current Events

World Events

1983 brought the deaths of 263 Americans and 60 Israelis in Beirut, Lebanon. The U. S. also invaded the country of Grenada. Soviet leader Yuri Andropov, whose death brought much speculation, was succeeded by K. U. Chernenko. Polish solidarity leader Lech Walesa won the Nobel Peace Prize and Pope John Paul preached in a Lutheran church in Rome.

At the Movies

Movie fans flocked to theaters this year to see many movies about dancing. Flashdance starring Jennifer Beals was the most popular. Other dance movies include Staying Alive, which starred John Travolta and Footloose with Kevin Bacon. Tom Cruise catapulted to stardom with his movies Risky Business and All the Right Moves. Terms of Endearment earned an Academy Award nomination as did its stars Shirley MacLaine, Debra Winger and Jack Nicholson. Yentl, written by and starring Barbra Streisand, premiered during the year after being long awaited by fans of all ages.

U. S. Events

1983 was the year of firsts as Dr. Sally Ride was the first U. S. woman in space. The shuttle also landed at its home base, Cape Canaveral, Florida, for the first time. Jesse Jackson and Harold Washington made news as the first blacks to run for the presidency and become mayor of Chicago, respectively. America was saddened by the deaths of Dr. Barney Clark, the recipient of the first artificial heart, playwright Tennessee Williams and the 12-year-old 'bubble boy' from Houston named David. Everyone's favorite doll, Barbie, turned 25 as the newest rage, Cabbage Patch Kids adoptable dolls, came on the scene. Interior Secretary James Watt resigned his post after making a racial statement that caused much uproar around the country. American Telephone and Telegraph Co. broke into 8 parts, and the dollar was worth more than ever abroad. In television, MASH's "Farewell, Goodbye, and Amen" gained the largest viewing audience for a series episode in TV history. A movie about nuclear disaster, The Day After made prime-time and caused much controversy.

Athletic Events

Americans made a fair showing in the Winter Olympics held in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. They earned their first ever skiing golds. Phil Mahre won the gold in the men's slalom while his brother Steve took the silver. Bill Johnson skied to a gold medal finish in the men's downhill. Women made an exceptional showing in the women's giant slalom as Diane Armstrong and Christin Cooper took first and second, respectively. In figure skating, Scott Hamilton took the gold and Rosalyn Sumners won a silver medal. The brother-sister team of Peter and Kitty Caruthers also skated to a silver medal in the pairs competition. The Los Angeles Raiders defeated the Washington Redskins in Superbowl XVIII while the USFL gained strength. Martina Navratilova won her fourth Wimbledon. Sports fans rejoiced at the return of Sugar Ray Leonard to boxing, but they were saddened to learn of the deaths of boxer Jack Dempsey, wrestler David von Erich and football player Joe Delaney.

State and Local Events

Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot's recommendation for a 9-hour school day caused much controversy in Texas as did the motion to eliminate many extra-curricular activites. Stiff DWI laws were passed in Texas to eliminate fatalities by drunk drivers. Rampant teenage suicide in Plano caused nationwide concern.

Whitehouse held its first Yesteryear celebration in June. Problems with water wells were experienced and the city investigated the possibility of a water hook-up with the city of Tyler. Record cold weather brought snow and illness in December. Several new businesses opened in Whitehouse. They were Kim's Pizza and Pasta, Photo Plus, PW's and Revco. Brookshire's also moved into new facilities.

Top Videos

"I want my MTV!" Music Television's video format grew more popular than ever this year. Millions of dollars were spent on videos to promote record sales. Many critics, however, felt that MTV discriminated against black artists even though Blacks produced some of the most popular videos.
